CHILDREN from a St Helier day care centre surprised parents and audience members with a special rendition of the hit song Let It Go at the end of their Nativity play this week.

The three- and four-year-olds from the Giraffe Group of the Nestling Day Care Centre performed a traditional Nativity, with the addition of Santa Claus, at the St Helier Methodist Centre in front of parents, grandparents and friends.

But the audience was treated to a surprise twist at the end as the children sang their version of Demi Levato's Let It Go, made famous by the new Disney film Frozen.

Katie French, nursing officer at the day care centre, said it was the sixth year that they had organised a nativity performance. 'It was really good and the children all sang really well,' she added. 'Our little twist at the end was great, a really a nice touch.'
