Extract from Philip and Sally's recent update

Dear friends

As some of you will know Sally and I have suffered a bout of ill health recently and have both been in and out of hospital.

We have decided it is time to get a bit of support and so have moved into Les Hoûmets care home in Gorey. While it would be lovely to think of this as 'respite care', we feel that perhaps this is the safest place for us to be now, hard as it is for to contemplate this new chapter in our lives.

Our beloved cottage will continue to be enjoyed by family and friends, and we are hopeful that when we are feeling strong enough we will visit.

Emma and her family are coming out to Jersey for Christmas so that will be a lovely opportunity to spend time there with them.

For the remainder of this year, we will be getting used to the 'new normal'. Please don't all immediately respond to this email with messages of love and support, we know you are there, and we do appreciate you!
